School Calendar In '53-'54 Clarified

The story on the 1953-54 University calendar in last Friday's B-G News was incorrect.

The 1953-54 academic year will begin on September 14, 1953, and will end with Commencement on June 4, 1954. This is one day less than the over-all calendar year 1952-53.

There will be important internal changes in the calendar, however. These changes are intended to strengthen the academic program of the University and at the same time provide more adequate vacation recesses.

The important changes are as follows:

(1) There will be a longer period for orientation of new students. Freshman Week will comprise 5 days, Tuesday through Saturday, September 15 to 19, 1953. The 1952-53 orientation period was 2 days, Monday and Tuesday of the first week.

(2) Upperclassmen will register on Friday and Saturday, September 18 and 19, 1953, and classes will begin on Monday, September 21. In 1952 upperclass registration was on Wednesday, September 17. Heretofore there has been a large amount of late registration as upperclass students have waited for the beginning of the first full week of classes.

(3) Thanksgiving and Spring recesses will begin and end at 12 noon on the days before and after the holiday periods. This change was made in the interest of driving safety.

(4) The Easter recess is lengthened to seven full days, from Wednesday noon to Wednesday noon. This change is made in order to provide a restful break in the long and otherwise uninterrupted period of the second semester.

Fellowships Available In Atomic Research

'Alum Of Year' Informs ODK With Address

Dr. Jonathan B. Ladd, Omicron Delta Kappa's "alumnus of the year", told members and guests that some of the world's greatest achievements have come during unsettled times, Sunday afternoon at the Chapel.

Dr. Ladd, author, speaker, and language professor, paid tribute to the University's presidents and then declared that one of the greatest types of knowledge was that of knowing people in order to work in harmony with them. The speech climaxed ODK's week of pledge instruction and came immediately after the group initiated ten new members.

John Grossman, president of the national men's leadership honorary, outlined the history and aims of the organization before introducing Dr. Ladd.

No Contact With Rushes During Entire Exam Week

In a move to bolster scholastic standing of rushes, Interfraternity Council has banned contact between fraternity men and rushes during exam week, Fred Pratt, council president, announces. The no-contact rule went into effect yesterday at midnight.

The usual six-man rushing rule also is suspended for this period. Only exceptions to IFC's "no contact" rule between rushes and fraternity members are normal and necessary meetings in dormitories and classes.

Rushing To Begin, Bids Ready Feb. 26

Basic closed rushing rules have been announced by Interfraternity Council. The rules are formally in effect at the beginning of the spring semester.

Preliminary eligibility lists of rushes are due in Dean Conklin's office before noon Wednesday, Feb. 4. Final eligibility lists are to be turned into the same office before noon Feb. 20. Bids will be extended Feb. 26.

Students Must Furnish Blue Books In Finals

Students will be required to furnish their own blue books for final exams this semester unless otherwise instructed, according to Paul D. Shepherd, book-store manager.

For the past two years students have received blue books from the instructors at the time of the exam, but this semester the former practice of the student furnishing his own blue books will be followed.

Tickets are on sale in the booth on the north side of the Well from 10 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. on Thursday and Friday.

Acclaimed on four continents for her piano artistry, Miss de la Bruchollerie has won several national and international awards in music competition. At the age of five she was placed under the supervision of Isidor Philipp, then piano professor at the Paris Conservatory.

Later, while still a pupil of Philipp, she won the first prize in the Pages Competition, held every fifth year at the conservatory for winners of the annual prize. She went on to gain first honors at the Chopin Competition in Warsaw and later at the International Contest in Vienna.

Miss de la Bruchollerie played her first concert in Paris in 1941 and since that time has appeared with leading orchestras in Europe, as well as making appearances in North Africa and throughout South America. She made her American debut with the Boston Symphony Orchestra in December of 1951 and since then has received favorable critical reaction in both the United States and Canada.

In private life she is Madame Armand du Rosele, the wife of a Parisian civil engineer. The couple have two daughters, Patinette, eight, and Sandrine, three.

Tickets for the performance will be available, beginning today, at the ticket booth at the north entrance to the Well. Reserved seat tickets may be obtained by writing or calling Dr. Elden T. Smith at the speech department. Checks should be made payable to the University Artist Series.

Ike's Inauguration Today; GOP Planning Big Affair

By JAN CROUCH

The Republicans have gone wild in Washington as they put the finishing dramatic touches on the inauguration of the 33rd president of the United States scheduled for this noon, Jan. 20. A ceremony which was originally planned by Eisenhower to be a "simple dignified inaugural" has developed into a three-ring circus for his ecstatic party, celebrating their first presidential victory since 1928.

According to Newsweek magazine, "all signs point to the biggest and best show in American history, costing as much as $1,000,000, not $300,000 as estimated in the modest original plan."

As a result, and tying along with these lines, is the old story of "where are we gonna put 'em, a problem which has been haunting the Joint Congressional Committee in charge of the Capitol ceremonies. For example, there were 50,000 applications for the 15,000 reserved seats in the inaugural stand; close to 100,000 applications for engraved invitations to the fabulous and traditional Inaugural Ball.

All this pressure also applied to tickets for the parade, with six out of every seven desiring seats facing the big spectacle. Only 900 press credentials are supposed to be issued for the event, but the Committee has received 3,200 applications.

The ceremony itself, which precedes the parade, will last only 45 minutes, including the new President's speech. Before taking his place at the head of the parade, Ike will lunch with Congressional leaders in the office of the Secretary of State.

Those unable to gain admittance will hear a broadcast address which will be carried over 150 loudspeakers set up in the vicinity of the Capital grandstand.

In Our Opinion

It's Everybody's Job

At noon today, Dwight D. Eisenhower will become the thirty-third man to hold the nation's highest office. He will be inaugurated as President of the United States.

The inauguration of Eisenhower and his incoming administration will mark the first major change in the direction of American government in two decades.

However, it cannot be expected to bring with it any panaceas or cure-alls to rid our country of the corruption and inefficiency which has plagued it in the past. Neither can it be looked for to gain for us automatic prestige in the eyes of those nations which presently view us through distrustful and apprehensive eyes. Again, it cannot be a guarantee of healthy relations among men or the peaceful co-existence of nations.

Desirable as all of these are, they are impossible of achievement by any one man or any one administration without the aid and support of the American people.

Already the friction and rivalry which characterized the recent election has languished into memory. Rival factions within the new administration have been compromised. Appointment of high officials on other than primarily political grounds has been widely commended.

To some, the outlook for the future is bright. To others, it carries nothing but ominous portents. All should be brought to realize that the decision is theirs to make.

To all of us, as Americans, regardless of political affiliations or leanings, belongs the duty of pledging our wholehearted support to our new chief executive and his administration. To do less than this is to fail in our trust.

Lines at Deadline

Inauguration, a day that rates as high with Americans as a coronation does with Englishmen, takes place today for the thirty-fourth time. Bonds will play, flags will fly, and Mamie's husband will become the most important man in American government—until next election.

Note to subversive groups: In case you haven't already thought of it, a well-placed atom bomb could easily wipe out a lot of U.S. government leaders in Washington today.

Note to Lines At Deadline column: Have already thought of this extremely useful idea, but have learned from our Washington comrades that a bomb would be impractical because "political hot air" would keep it from landing. We are now investigating this new kind of "air" for use as a possible secret weapon.

Presidential humor: William Hard of "The Atlantic Monthly" once intercepted Calvin Coolidge taking a cat nap in the middle of a presidential executive day. When he opened his eyes, Cal grinned and asked: "Is the country still here?"

It appears that the state of Ohio has put all of its eggs into one basket by imposing taxes, forming a legislature, creating state universities, etc., before it has even been officially admitted to the Union. Who knows, marketing classes may even start selling coonskin caps to Ohio's almost eight million "pioneers."

Anyway, we hope that Congress will pass a proposed legislative act making Ohio a full-fledged state, retroactive to March 1, 1803.

Finals Find Few Fearless Of F's

With finals coming up, students are finding themselves reliant on coffee, cigarettes, and late hours. One sleepy student is shown above as he makes his final review for "judgment day" in the morning.

Study lights burning far into the morning, the usual light chatter of students in the halls conspicuous by its absence, drooping eyelids—these are the symptoms of the time of year most dreaded by every student—exam week.

One frustrated soul discovered that he will spend 33,000 seconds laboring over the exams alone. When last seen, "X" was counting his study hours in terms undefinable, but the latest report revealed that "X" is suffering from shock over at Johnston.

On to the more optimistic viewpoint, if you're still with us. In just ten days or so, the books will be safely stored in moth balls for a peaceful 96-hour rest. Any student caught opening a text cover during that period will be transferred to the psychiatry ward for further scrutinization. That rule also applies to the Atlantic Monthly, freshmen!

OFFICIAL Announcements

The Alpha Phi Omega used book store will be open from 9 to noon and 1 to 4 next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday to accept books. No books will be sold at that time.

Three Times-Ouch Violator Punished

When Student Court convened Wednesday, Jan. 14, two cases of illegal parking were tried and verdicts of guilty were handed down to the same offenders for each case.

Arlo Ragan was fined $2 and $3 respectively for parking twice in assigned parking area. They were Ragan's second and third offenses.

Seriously, though, speaking to first year collegiates, many of whom have never gone through this two-hour sitting, prepare sensibly for final exams. Do not clutter your central train of thought with insignificant factors not stressed by your instructors. Another good idea for all students to remember—review midterm tests, for much of the same material is generally covered.

Vitality essential to doing well on tests is budgeting your time—not only in the whole course of time and preparation for finals, but during the exam. Allow yourself a sufficient amount of time for each essential part.

If at all workable, accomplish as much as possible in that which you understand most thoroughly, and then go back and fill in: It is better to prove your full understanding of the subject in two-thirds of the test, rather than let the time "fritter away", so the results show only a sketchy answer on each question.

Above all, keep those EYES open, and GOOD LUCK!!

LETTERS To The Editor

Dear Editor:

You stated editorially in Friday's paper that Senate had violated a promise by voting to allow the March of Dimes on the campus. You held that the passing of the blanket at the basketball game Saturday night was such a violation. And yet, you failed to mention that it would be announced that the blanket was for only the faculty and townspeople. You hold that faculty by living in the University Apartments are not solicited. Furthermore, and more important you overlook the fact that there is pride in giving through the University as a symbol of its interest in the welfare of the community.

You do state that the purpose of the campaign is to allow faculty to give, but that students could give if they wished. You did not mention however, the idea of the social and educational value in being able to give and to have the opportunity of helping others.

You state that most like to contribute to charities, but not after they have given to a drive on the promise of no further requests for the year. You stated that "the Drive committee made clear that students wouldn't be bothered with other charity campaigns during the year if they gave to the combined Chest Drive. Students respected that agreement." I would like to ask how? By giving the grand total of seventy-four cents (that's right 74c) per student to the Chest Drive?

William R. Bittner
Stuart R. Givens

Dear Editor:

It seems to me that WBGU deserves a round of applause for its special efforts in relaying the BG-Toledo basketball game last week to the stay-at-home students.

Most people probably won't appreciate our campus station until the lack of such a station would be an inconvenience, and I think that's what happened last week.

Robert Johnson

A new system of showing students their permanent records is one of the new features of the registrar's office, which has been moved to the first floor of the Administration Bldg.

Upon obtaining the records from the files, the secretary will place them under a pane of glass which has been built into the sill of the window. If the student wishes to see the other side of the record sheet he asks the secretary to turn the record sheet over.

The purpose of this new system is to permit the secretaries to go on about their work while the students look over their records.

OSU Faculty Opinion Asked On Red Question

By JUNE EMERY

News items pertaining to other colleges which usually appear on this page have always been gay and, therefore, misleading.

One of the most prominent themes of many college newspapers has been presented here and is far from gay. This is the rising fear of Communism and its resulting havoc in the university world.

Three veteran New York City college professors last week were suspended because they refused to answer questions asked by the McCarran Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security. The New York Board of Education claimed that they violated a clause in the city charter which holds that a city employee can be dismissed if he refused to testify before such an investigating committee.

The fear of a probable congressional investigation is close to us. The Ohio State Lantern tried to determine the feelings of the University's faculty concerning an investigation at State. Dr. David Spitz of the department of political science said, "We are at a stage in American history where the results secured by an investigation are less important than the excitement and publicity generated in the process of investigating."

Most of the faculty did not feel free to comment. Some did comment but asked not to be quoted.

Pre-Med Students Advised To Take Admission Test

Students expecting to enter medical school in the fall of 1954 are advised by the Association of American Medical Colleges to take the Medical College Admission Test offered May 9, 1953 at more than 300 centers throughout the country.

The objective-type test covers general scholastic ability, understanding of modern society, and science achievement. No special preparation is necessary but a review of science subjects is recommended.

Information, application forms, and sample questions are available from pre-med advisers or the Educational Testing Service, Box 592, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must be returned to the testing service office by April 25.

"Champagne" was served while a skyline of skyscrapers was visible in the bay window of the lounge.

Kappa Sigs gave a television party for the Alpha Xi Deltas Friday night. A new K. Sig Combo provided music.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Knepper were dinner guests of the Alpha Phi's Monday.

Theta Chi's regional counselor, Ron Baker, visited the campus Sunday.

Alpha Xi Deltas were given a surprise party Tuesday by the Sigma Alpha Epsilons. Since it was Senior Sneak night, three of the February graduates left meeting and arranged the surprise party for the rest of the actives. SAE's showed up at the party with all the actives' toothbrushes confiscated by the seniors.

Among last week's exchange dinners were the following: Kappa Delta and Sigma Chi, Alpha Chi Omega and Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Phi and Phi Kappa Tau, Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Kappa Psi, and Women's Independent Society and Sigma Phi Epsilon. Favors at the Sigma Chi-Kappa Delta exchange dinner were etched glasses with the Sigma Chi crest.

Sigma Chi will have inauguration of officers Tuesday coinciding with the national inauguration date.

'BECAUSE OF YOU'

If you can make the grade, the U. S. Air Force will award you a commission, your wings and pay you over $5,000 a year!

CAN YOU "take it" 6 days a week? For 52 weeks? Can you meet the high standards required to be an Aviation Cadet? If you can—then here's a man-size opportunity! An opportunity to serve your country and build a personal career that will fit you for responsible positions both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE?

To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks! HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet Training Class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

Where to get more details: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer. OR WRITE TO: AVIATION CADET HEADQUARTERS, U. S. AIR FORCE, WASHINGTON 25, D. C.
